

FUNNY FILMS FOR SERIOUS SUBJECTS

Presented by Gail Rubin, CT, The Doyenne of Death[®]

Laughing in the Face of Death: Funny Films for Funeral Planning

This upbeat talk illustrates funeral planning issues with clips from comedy films and television programs. Just as talking about sex won't make you pregnant, talking about funerals won't make you dead – and your family will benefit from the conversation. Films include Get Low, The Six Wives of Henry Lefay, Death at a Funeral (U.S. version), Undertaking Betty, The Big Lebowski and Elizabethtown.

“Doctor, How Long Do I Have?”

Having a serious healthcare conversation with your doctor takes effort to ensure clear communications. Learn how to ask questions and be involved in treatment decisions by watching dramatic and comedy films depicting doctor-patient conversations. Films include Patch Adams, The End, Wit, The Shootist and The Descendants.

Estate Planning, Hollywood Myth versus Facts

The way the movies portray it, wills are supposed to cover funeral plans in addition to the distribution of assets. Unfortunately, family members may die before doing any estate planning. Even with a will, plans can go awry. Clips from comedies including Carpet Kingdom, The Six Wives of Henry LeFay, Eulogy, Bonneville, The Ghost and Mrs. Muir, Grand Theft Parsons and other movies illustrate the need to do estate planning TODAY.

Ashes to Ashes, Dust in Your Face: Cremation, Comedy and Creativity

Cremation is the fastest growing disposition method in the U.S. Watching funny and serious film clips, you'll learn about what you need to know before there's a death in the family, including choices to make and disposition options. Films include Elizabethtown, The Big Lebowski, Due Date, The Bucket List, and The Descendants.

The Funeral Director on Film

Watching scenes from comedies and dramas focused on funeral directors throughout history, learn important consumer tips for funeral planning. With humorous insights, presenter Gail Rubin traces the evolution of the funeral industry through Hollywood portrayals of “the last man to let you down.” Films include The Shootist, The Loved One, About Schmidt, Get Low, Bernie and the TV series, Six Feet Under.

Jewish Funeral Traditions on Film

Jewish traditions regarding death and dying, the funeral, the treatment of the body, burial, mourning, and annual remembrances are very different from Christian practices. This talk illuminates the differences and similarities of these funeral traditions – highly beneficial for interfaith families. Scenes from two comedic films from Mexico, My Mexican Shivah and Nora's Will, illustrate Jewish funeral, burial and mourning traditions.

(continued over)

A Funny, Fractured History of Funerals on Film

This fast-paced collection of short comedy film clips traces the history of undertaking starting at the dawn of humankind (History of the World Part 1) and medieval times (Monty Python and the Holy Grail). Grave robbing (Young Frankenstein), casket sales (The Loved One), and cremation (The Big Lebowski) are among the issues examined.

Everybody Dies: Lessons from Six Feet Under

From 2001 to 2005, the HBO cable television series Six Feet Under took viewers behind the scenes at Fisher & Sons Funeral Home. This upbeat talk uses clips from this award-winning series to illuminate funeral planning issues for those who don't plan to die. Topics include funeral consumer issues, cremation, traditional and green burial, developments in the funeral industry, and aspects of contemporary grief and mourning.

Hollywood's Visions, Trips and Crowded Rooms

Dr. David Kessler's book Visions, Trips and Crowded Rooms shares the personal stories of medical and hospice professionals who witness death. Some of the dying see remarkable visions, some speak of going on a trip, and others see people who they knew in this lifetime crowding the room. Hollywood films provide a concrete way of looking at this phenomenon when someone dies. This talk opens the door to discussing mortality issues.

Film Appreciation Presentations

These one to two-hour film clip talks on Hollywood giants make great spouse programs. "Hallmarks of Hitchcock" identifies top thematic elements of Alfred Hitchcock films. "All Singing, All Dancing: Storytelling in Busby Berkeley Musicals" showcases his elaborate production numbers. "John Ford: When the Legend Becomes Fact, Print the Legend" identifies thematic elements of this master director's Westerns.

Other film clip talks include Exit Strategies: On Choosing to Die and The Viking Funeral on Film.

Gail Rubin, CT, The Doyenne of Death[®], is author of the award-winning book A Good Goodbye: Funeral Planning for Those Who Don't Plan to Die and The Family Plot Blog. Host of A Good Goodbye television series and Internet radio program, she's a Certified Thanatologist (a death educator) and a popular speaker who uses humor and films to get end-of-life conversations started. She's a member of the Association for Death Education and Counseling, the International Cemetery, Cremation and Funeral Association and the National Speakers Association New Mexico Chapter. President of the Jewish-Christian Dialogue of New Mexico, she's a Certified Celebrant who also serves on the cemetery committee for Congregation Albert and volunteers with the Chevra Kaddisha, which ritually prepares bodies for Jewish burial.

Phone: 505-265-7215 | Email: Gail@AGoodGoodbye.com